

ENTIRE ISLAND IS SWALLOWED BY SEA

RESIDENTS DIE WHEN HUGE WAVE WIPES OUT LAND

Population In Doubt And Number of Victims Is Unknown

Sailors' Gibbering With Fright Tell Story—Owned
By Portugal

London, Jan. 27.—The Portuguese government has received confirmation of the engulfing of the island of Port Alexander by the sea, according to a dispatch received by the Evening News today.

Passing ships brought first news that the island had been swallowed, receiving their accounts from sailors who gibbered with fright as they related their escape from the waves.

It was not learned whether any foreign ships were in port when the island disappeared beneath the sea. The majority of the island's inhabitants were white, but, as no accurate account of its population was available, the number of victims was not determined.

The few sailors who escaped told of a huge wave which seemed to rise and sweep over the island. Vessels which escaped the wave stood by to pick up what few survivors remained. The Evening News said the island was large enough to maintain a population of 15,000. The Portuguese legation lacked definite information on the catastrophe, but explained that the city of Pinda, of which the island was the port, lies on the mainland and is the residential section for both the city and its port.

It was the legation's understanding that only the sandy peninsula stretching out from the mainland to Port Alexander were washed away and therefore the loss of life might be small.

London, Jan. 27.—Wreckage and scores of bodies eddying on the tides near the site of Port Alexander were all that remained today of the island swallowed by the sea, according to unconfirmed reports reaching here via Paris. The disaster visiting the little Portuguese island off West Africa remained for the most part a mystery. Maritime circles had no confirmation of the reports that Port Alexander had been destroyed. It was believed, however, there were no survivors except sailors aboard craft in the harbor, who were able to escape by putting to sea.

BOGGS BOYS AWAIT ARRAIGNMENT UNDER HEAVY GUARD FORCE

Hillsboro, O., Jan. 27.—A heavy guard stood over Dan and John Boggs, Jackson, O., slayers Monday, as they waited their arraignment Tuesday here on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Harry T. McGill, Highland County deputy surveyor a week ago. McGill had assisted in arresting them for robbery here last Tuesday.

Under indictment for murder in the first degree, the two bandits were brought here from Springfield Friday night and placed on the second floor of the county jail as a precaution against possible violence. Feeling is running high here.

The boys are expected to plead not guilty to the charge and the trial may be set for sometime in March, it is thought by defense attorneys.

"I intend to rush the trial," said Harold Predmore, prosecuting attorney. "If my investigation is complete, the trial will start a week from Monday."

SUIT DISMISSED
Athens, Jan. 27.—Damage suit for $50,000, instituted in court here against Dwight Shoemaker, Marion, by Paye Smith, former Ohio University co-ed, has been dismissed. Miss Smith sued Shoemaker because of injuries received in and auto accident involving a machine, driven by Shoemaker, in which a number of students were riding about the city. It was claimed.

FIVE COUNTIES ARE UNDER WATER FROM SOUTHERN FLOODS

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 27.—South Georgia is suffering from one of the worst floods in the history of that section. Today five counties are practically buried beneath acres of roaring water, caused by torrential rains in the northern part of the State.

Cattle have been drowned by scores, acres of land have been washed over, fences destroyed and light buildings carried away like toy houses.

Damage, it is now estimated, will reach several hundred thousand dollars.

Several towns have appealed for aid from the American Red Cross and some relief supplies already have been sent into the district.

Train service today was still badly interrupted. Washouts on several lines have concentrated movements into Florida through one channel and schedules have been abandoned in some cases.

On the other side of the southern tier of states, where the rivers empty into the Atlantic, the situation is just as desperate. Newton, the county seat of Baker county, is inundated.

Not one of the town's 400 residents has been left in the town, according to word reaching here. Water is said to have mounted until it covers the top of telephone poles. That is the highest the Altamaha river has ever reached.

McIntosh county, which borders the seacoast, is also hard hit.

Two representatives of the Red Cross have been sent from Atlanta to Brunswick to make a survey of the situation there.

Doctortown is submerged and no word has been received as to the fate of the residents.

So far no loss of life has been reported from the southern area, was fulfilled today in the states bordering the Mississippi river, and the storm was slowly moving toward the Atlantic seaboard, according to reports reaching Atlanta.

Rain and sleet fell all night in Little Rock and snow began falling early this morning.

Memphis reported temperature below freezing with sleet, snow and rain the visiting elements.

New Orleans and Mobile reported a light rain with temperature about normal.

At Birmingham, the temperature was 45 at dawn. Rain which had been falling all night ceased.

Cold, cloudy weather was reported from Vicksburg. Rain was threatening. Atlanta awoke in balmy temperature but a light rain had fallen and there was promise of more.

Sleet was falling and a high wind blowing at Nashville.

Chattanooga reported cold, cloudy weather, with the thermometer falling.

BLIZZARD BEARING COLD WIND AND HEAVY SNOW VISITS OHIO AND WEST VIRGINIA

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 27.—The capital today was blanketed under nearly an inch of snow that fell steadily during the night and continued unabated all morning.

Traffic was delayed in the congested districts although not to an appreciable extent.

Zanesville, O., Jan. 27.—The entire Muskingum valley from Coshocton to Marietta and the Licking Valley from Newark to this city are covered with snow to the depth of from four to six inches as the result of a heavy snowfall during last night.

High winds drifted the snow along country roads and rural traffic is greatly impeded.

Newark, O., Jan. 27.—A blizzard which gathered force during last night, rendered this city to a real

DOLAN TO TELL STORY OF BASEBALL SCANDAL SOON

Former Giant Coach Has Been Summoned To New York
—Attorney Says He Will Come—Prosecutor Will Not Divulge Plans.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Jan. 27.—Cozy Dolan, the man who may yet get around to the matter of remembering what he forgot, if anything, is coming back to Broadway within the next forty eight hours to answer for his part, if any, in baseball's latest scandal.

His attorney, William J. Fallon, reaffirmed today his statement that Dolan will welcome a reopening of the case, but neglected to state just when Cozy will furnish visible evidence of this sentiment.

One report had it that Dolan will appear at the district attorney's office today to be questioned at or about the same time as Horace Ford, Philadelphia second baseman, the first man to whom Sand told of O'Connell's attempted bribery.

But nothing has been heard of Dolan leaving his home at Oshkosh, Wis. In fact Dolan's silence has been almost painful during recent months.

Assistant District Attorney Brothers conducting the investigation, is believed to know of Dolan's intentions, but Brothers is saying very little these days. He did admit, however, that if Dolan declines to appear, nothing could be done about it.

The former Giant coach, alleged by O'Connell to have been the inspiration behind his (O'Connell's) attempted bribe, he no longer is under the jurisdiction of Judge Landis' office. The judge has notified the district attorney's office that he can and will produce all others identified with the case, with the exception of Dolan and O'Connell, the two men dropped from the lists as a result of the original inquiry.

Only extradition proceedings could produce the pair here in the event that they undertook to ignore the district attorney's invitation. They cannot be extradited until an indictment is brought in by the grand jury.

Perhaps Brothers may not be so far away from this step as might appear at first blush. At least, he gave tongue to this optimistic remark, after interviewing Frank Frisch and Heine Sand yesterday.

"I consider that we have made satisfactory progress in this case. We are making headway and I think we will get to the bottom of the scandal in time."

Just what would be his next step in the event that Dolan failed to appear, Brothers declined to say. He, of course, recognizes that without Dolan his investigation is likely to run up a blind alley. O'Connell, declaring his readiness to appear, has already confessed.

Frisch, Young and Kelly are innocent in the eyes of the law, as long as the charges against them are made only by a self confessed conspirator. Dolan is the crux of the situation, provided there is a crux and a situation.

FATTY DIVORCED

Paris, January 27.—The Seine tribunal today granted a divorce to Mrs. Arminta Durfee Arbuckle from Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, former film comedian, who was tried three times and finally acquitted on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe. The Arbuckles were married in Los Angeles Aug. 5, 1908.

TURNKEY CHARGED WITH STEALING IN BOOZE RAIDING WAR

East Liverpool, O., Jan. 27.—As an aftermath of the East Liverpool-Wellsville liquor raiders war, a warrant charging City Jail Turnkey William A. Cline with the theft of a revolver valued at $40, was issued by Justice of the Peace Zimmerman of Lisbon today.

The information was preferred by Daum Appel, of near Wellsville, whose farm was raided by Cline and others on January 3.

Appel, unable to pay a $2,000 fine, assessed by Mayor Charles Brown of East Liverpool, was committed to the Columbia county jail at Lisbon.

Cline, it was said, would voluntarily go to Lisbon to face the charge.

OHIO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WANTS NEW ASSOCIATION

Columbus, Jan. 27.—Annual meeting of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce here today was marked by enactment of a reorganization plan involving coordination of all the local chambers of commerce throughout Ohio, manufacturers associations, merchants organizations, agricultural agencies and transportation, public utility and banking interests into a statewide association designed to promote and protect all of Ohio's industrial and commercial enterprises.

Retaining its designation of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce the enlarged organization, it was announced, will function as a clearing house for the more than 200 allied organizations, which, heretofore, worked individually or in small groups.

Frank B. McMillan, Mt. Gilead, is president and Frank E. McCrehen, Columbus, secretary of the new organization which will conduct researches analyzing many complex problems concerning general welfare and will maintain departments of publicity and for studying taxation and other legislative problems, it was stated.

Adoption of a modern state taxation system, establishment of a state police department, and defeat of the proposed child labor amendment and old age pension and minimum wage legislation were urged by President McMillan in his annual report.

He said "agriculture and manufacture, the two outstanding activities which suffered the most during our post war experience—are encouraged by the first substantial rays of hope for normal business appearing on the horizon of our affairs since 1920."

MRS. CARRIE HARBISON DIES AT CEDARVILLE

Mrs. Harbison spent all of her life in the vicinity of Cedarville. Her husband died thirteen years ago and she is survived by four sons and one daughter, Daniel Harbison, Pittsburgh, Pa., William Harbison, Clark's Run, Pa., William Harbison at home Robert Harbison of Columbus and Miss Elsie Harbison at home.

She was the last member of her family, her maiden name being Reed. She was a life-long member of the Reformed Presbyterian Church at Cedarville.

BIRDS BOB HATS

Flushing, Jan. 27.—Women who visit the G. W. Henderson barber shop here in search of hairdressing have learned not leave hats or brilliant hues on tables, or chairs, adjoining Henderson's aviary, containing forty birds, said to be one of the largest displays of imported birds in Ohio. An African oriole is able to reach through the meshes of the cage and rip ribbons, or plumes, from the headgear with ease, patrons declared. Henderson, one of the leading colored residents of this district, has maintained the bird display in one end of his shop thirty-three years.

SITUATION IS TENSE

PROPOSERS OF AMENDMENT TRY TO SAVE MEASURE

Hope to Postpone Vote On Ratification of Labor
Bill.

Columbus, O., Jan. 27.—Desperate last minute efforts of advocates of the proposed federal child labor amendment to stave off final action which would kill chances of ratification of the proposal by the Ohio legislature will be made ready today when the question of ratification reaches the voting stage in the house.

Adding them will be a group of legislators who wish to avoid an out and out vote on the question of ratification. The major parties are pledged to support ratification of the proposed amendment, but the overwhelming majority of Republicans in the House is heavily against ratification, it is claimed.

The method to be sought to avoid the dilemma will be the presentation of a motion to postpone consideration of the project. This will permit debate on the question of ratification. There is a question whether sufficient votes to pass the motion can be mustered, Senator Silver said today. If the motion is lost, the house will face a direct vote on the question. If it carries, a provision will be inserted that the question may not be raised again except by two thirds vote, it was predicted.

Both houses reconvened Monday evening after the over-Sunday recess. The house passed the bill sponsored by Representative May M. Van Wye, Hamilton county, specifically exempting administrative officers of colleges and universities from civil service. Thirteen house bills were introduced. The senate listened to memorial tributes to two former members, Thomas L. Gifford, Lucas and M. B. Archer, Noble County.

Desire of senate leaders to add technical amendments to the emergency financial relief bill may delay final passage of the measure until next week. The bill was considered Monday night by the senate tax committee when decision to submit amendments was made. They were to be drafted and ready for introduction today. If the measure is amendment, concurrence of the house to the amendments, will be necessary before the bill is sent to Governor Donahay.

The house adopted resolutions eulogizing the late Mrs. Warren G. Harding and adjourned out of respect to the memory of the late President Harding.

Administration of the state department of welfare by a seven member board, appointed by the governor, subject to confirmation by the senate, is sought in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Herbert Franklin County.

The board would be empowered to appoint the state director of welfare and to name five member visiting boards for all state institutions.

Other bills introduced in the house, include:

By Baxter, Allen, providing for religious instruction in children's home; by Hume, Delaware, requiring other traffic to stop while school buses are loading, or unloading; by Overturf, Licking, raising annual pay of municipal officers as follows: judge from maximum of $2,000 to minimum of $2,000; clerk from maximum of $1,500 to minimum of $2,000; and bailiffs from maximum of $1,000 to minimum of $1,500; Miss Osa Penny, Montgomery, requiring private hearing of divorce cases and interlocutory decree for a year; McDonald, Montgomery, providing that 10, or more, tax payers in any taxing district, before proposed bond issue is voted on, may appeal to duly constituted boards of state officials to determine desirability of project; by Penny, providing a maximum fine of $200 or three months in jail or both for defrauding garage keeper; by Fox, Montgomery, making mandatory the filing of plans for county bridges ten days before date for receiving bids; by Johnston, Richland, appropriating $60,000 for erection of an armory at Mansfield.

"REDUCE EXPENSES AND CUT PAYROLLS" IS COOLIDGE ORDER

Washington, Jan. 27.—"Reduce your expenses and cut your payroll."

The army of bureau chiefs and department heads that constitute the machinery of the federal government had this direct order today from President Coolidge. It is his first general order of the new year and he left no doubt in the minds of several hundred bureau heads who heard it that only strict compliance with it will find favor with the White House.

The expenditures for 1925, Mr. Coolidge said, must be brought at least $62,000,000 under the budget estimates already sent to congress. This cut will be necessary he said, to bring total expenses for running the government this year under the three billion dollar mark.

The president believes there are at present too many names on the payroll. He asked departmental chiefs to scan their personnel lists and reduce them.

If his recommendations are successfully executed, he declared, it will mean tax reduction by the new 69th congress, due to convene in December.

"The people," said the president, "have not only been impatient under the heavy burden of war taxation, but they have been heroic."

"So far as it is in my power, I propose to continue my efforts for economy in federal expenditures. What we have done thus far is only a beginning."

CHINESE DICTATOR IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Peking, Jan. 27.—The condition of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, dictator of South China is grave and his recovery is doubtful, it was said today.

Kindig, director of apiculture for Michigan and president, American Honey Producers' League, and others.

GEE SING COOKS UP WITCH'S MIXTURE, CATCH 'EM VELLY GOOD KLIK, BUT JOHN LAW STEPS IN

Akron, O., Jan. 27.—When Shakespeare described the witch's mixture in Macbeth he may have had in mind Gee Sing, a Chinese laundryman of Akron. For Indian fakirs, voodoo men, delirium tremens, hop dreams and jazz mania have nothing on Gee's distillations.

Officers Turner, Silkmitter and Little raided the laundryman's place of business today and confiscated some mash and a quart of liquor. In the liquid which Sing admits selling by not denying the fact, there was a snake for every swallow, for a two foot serpent was found crinkled up in the mash. Also there were bits of lizards, turtle, fish, toads, rats and a generous amount of banana skins.

The latter were intended to provide the juice, it was said.

Gee Sing is charged with possession of liquor but whether it can be termed an intoxicant or simply a lethal beverage intended for enemies of his tong will have to be determined. He had $211 in his clothes when arrested and was emotionless as Bret Harte's "Heavenly Chinese" in a poker game, appearing not at all disturbed because of the annoyance the police were causing him.

He is said to have blandly informed police that he put the snake and other reptiles in the mash before he distilled it "catch 'em velly good klik."

DISORDERS MAY FOLLOW MOVES IN HERRIN WAR

Arrest of Lieutenant Of Young Adds Fuel To Condition

Herrin, Ill., Jan. 27.—With tension increased, snow covered shivering Herrin prepared today for possible stirring developments. Four situations, amplified by the night's events were fraught today with disturbing contingencies.

The coroner's jury, its secret investigation finished, was to meet today for a public inquest into the death of Saturday's four victims.

The arrest of Glenn Fowler, Herrin Klansman, at Carbondale, on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, was ranking in Ku Klux Klan breasts as an insult to the memory of their late leader, S. Glenn Young.

The funeral of Ora Thomas, deputy sheriff and reputed head of the Flaming Circle, was set for this afternoon.

A move was on foot to oust Sheriff Galligan from office. He was determined to stick and promised to issue a formal statement to that effect today.

All four of these situations were fertile today with promises of startling developments.

There were reports that testimony was to be "sprung" at the inquest, that John Smith, Klan leader, had shot and killed Ora Thomas with a rifle Saturday night, firing through an outside window. Smith ridiculed the report although he admitted he was with Young at the time of the shooting.

Fowler, a former body guard for Young, was arranging for bond today on the concealed weapon charge, it having been made as the result of last night's near-clash between Herrin klansmen and two Carbondale residents at Carbondale. Fowler, Burr Owen and several other klansmen had gone to Carbondale to meet the train bringing George B. Young, brother of the slain raider, from Cedar Rapids. The party stopped at a restaurant before driving to Herrin. Joe McGuire, editor of a Carbondale daily newspaper and Ray Prince, of Carbondale, entered the restaurant. Words passed between Fowler and McGuire and according to reports Fowler drew a gun.

McGuire called Sheriff White who arrived with five deputies. Fowler was arrested.

Three automatics were found on him, according to the sheriff. Major Robert Davis, commanding the troops here, has ordered a strong detail to attend Thomas' funeral this afternoon. The military authorities were disturbed by reports that a number of St. Louis gangsters planned to attend the Thomas services. Herrin klansmen were said to have vowed "they would clean up" any such visitors.

Sheriff Galligan denied he had been requested to resign, but admitted that he had heard there was such a move on foot, by "Certain Klansmen."

He was emphatic in his determination to stick it out. Many armed klansmen gathered at the Lyman hotel early in the night. It was reported they planned to ask all reporters and correspondents to leave the city. Their discussions were interrupted by the arrival of a squad of soldiers who ordered them to disperse. None of the klansmen would make any statement.

A picked Klan bodyguard maintained an all night vigil over the body of Young at the first Baptist Church. At the head of the coffin was a glowing fiery cross. Young's funeral is scheduled for tomorrow.

DONAHEY WILL TALK AT SESSION OF OHIO PROTESTANT PASTORS

Columbus, Jan. 27.—Governor Donahay, Bishop Theodore S. Henderson, Cincinnati and State Prohibition Commissioner McDonald are among those scheduled to make addresses here tonight at the annual dinner in connection with the conference of about 750 Ohio Protestant pastors. The conference is being conducted under the auspices of the Ohio Council of Churches.

Today's sessions were marked by discussions of "co-operative evangelism," and "the church and public morals."

Talks tonight will deal with "co-operation between churches and public officials."

The conferees have adopted resolutions endorsing the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution, urging expansion of the week day Bible study classes in public schools.

A report was submitted that 450,000 school children, approximately are enrolled in these classes.

XENIA P. T. A. WORK IS COMMENDED BY EDUCATOR IN LETTER

Mrs. E. P. Hamlin, president of Central High School Parent-Teacher Association, has received a letter from the offices of Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the Ohio State University, illustrating the fame the success of the local P. T. A. has attained.

The results obtained by the Central High School P. T. A. and other associations in the city in the perfect cooperation of the parents, teachers and students, is said to be the envy of the other schools of the state and the Central High Association was recently declared by state P. T. A. officer to be "the only successful High School P. T. A. in the state."

The letter received by Mrs. Hamlin says in part: "In conversation recently with one of the state officers of the Parent-Teacher Association, I was very much interested in learning that these associations had done some very constructive work in their communities along certain special lines.

"I was referred to your association as one which had, among other things, reported engaging in efforts to secure simplicity and suitability of dress for school girls, in definite efforts to make the teachers of your school feel more at home in your community and in bringing about better child welfare legislation.

"I am very much interested in learning how these achievements have been accomplished. It happens that just at present I am planning to present to my students—all of whom are prospective public school teachers—as well as another group of men and women who are leaders in Parent-Teacher Association work, some facts regarding the work of these organizations in Ohio. What you have done, others can do. A knowledge of the achievements of your association will be an incentive to others.

"We regard, too, the more intangible results of the work of Parent-Teacher Associations—the development of closer sympathy and understanding between school and home—as in itself, worth every effort that may be made to realize it. I shall be greatly interested in learning of any instances of what your organization has accomplished toward this most worthy end."

The letter was written by Raymond D. Bennett, who is seeking information on the local work to present to his classes.

CHINESE OBSERVE NEW YEAR'S DAY WITH OLD CEREMONIES

Civil dissensions, long wars and inter-country troubles and strife were cast aside by native Chinese in America Saturday in celebration of the Chinese holiday, New Year's Day.

Xenia's limited population of Mongolians did not take an active part in the observance, as all celebration was confined to the larger cities where the Chinese population is more dense. In other cities such as San Francisco, all the ancient rites and traditional customs were practiced.

Large signs, reading "Chu Men Chien Hsi," or "As you go out of the door, may you meet happiness," were tacked over all the doors of Chinese residences, laundries and places of business Saturday.

The holiday falls on the twenty-third day of the last (present) moon—and for seven days preceding this holiday, Chinese in the country have strictly adhered to their old ceremonial rights.

CHURCH NEEDS TO AWAKE EVANGELIST SAYS IN REVIVAL SERMON ON PEOPLE WHO SNORE

There was nothing like "blue Monday" at the First Methodist Episcopal Church Monday night in spite of the bad weather, when a large audience gathered to hear the first week-night sermon of Evangelist George Hugh Birney, and enjoy the singing under the leadership of Raymond Stilling and the chorus.

Following the evening service the pastors and evangelist met with the Sunday School Boards to plan for the evangelistic rally in the Sunday School next Sunday morning. A banner attendance of both schools is expected. Dr. Birney's theme, addressed largely to church members, was "The Folks Who Snore in Church." The text was Ephesians 5:14: "Awake, thou that sleepest and arise from the dead and Christ shall shine upon thee."

"The church," he said, "has been a great sleeper down the centuries—and that is why so much of the world still remains unsaved. The tidal waves of evangelistic zeal, under the power of the Holy Spirit flowing from Pentecost, came more nearly conquering the world for God than all our modern boasts of missionary conquest today. But, wearying of her task, the church sought rest; and, lulled to sleep by worldliness and corruption, she filled the earth with her snores through the dark ages. Now and then God would send a St. Augustine or an Anselm or a Thomas Aquinas or a Savonarola down the isles of the sleeping church, crying, 'Awake, awake thou that sleepest.' The times of revival have come when the church has awakened to God's call, and, under the conquering tread of the Lord of Hosts the very earth has been shaken."

Dr. Birney described trying to sleep in a chautauqua hotel with the members of a band of musicians composed of all nationalities. "Every one of them," he said, "was snoring in the language in which he was born. It was the only time I have heard an international symphony in snores, and I hope it will be the last. But what about an interdenominational symphony in snores? Sometimes I wonder what the church sounds like to God as He listens in upon the musical somnolence which characterizes such a large proportion of its attitude and action today. In so far as Xenia is unsaved tonight, it is because of the sleeping churches. There are enough churches to convert the whole county within the next ten days, if the trumpet of God could only awaken those who sleep while the Bridegroom tarries. Until the prayer-meeting becomes the most enthusiastic meeting of the church week, and the last church member becomes a torch of evangelism, the church will continue to be under the suspicion of sleeping away her days of grace."

"Many Christians are like sleep walkers, who are merely dead on their feet. They go through the gestures of walking, but their service is that of ghosts walking in their shrouds. They have a name that they are alive, but they are dead, so far as knowing the passion of Christ is concerned." The evangelist described sleep as being caused by toxic poisons in the system, which, in turn, drug the body into unconsciousness. "If you never awake, you just stay dead! The sleep of the death of sin is caused by the toxic poisons of worldliness and corruption which drug the soul into spiritual unconsciousness. And it does not take much of such inoculation to render a church member spiritually dead. Nothing but the cleansing blood of Jesus can save a sleeping soul!"

Dr. Birney likened the se of gas in the war to the way Satan is putting over his barrage of asphyxiating poisons upon many who are even members of the church today. "Over there we had the phosgene and chlorine and mustard, and many others, each fatal in its own way, and no man could live on and fight in the air filled with their poisons. 90 per cent of the casualties of the war were from gas. More than once the only thing between my lungs and killing gases was my gas mask. But what about the poisoned air of the world filled with the very breath of hell, in which our children must live or die? Man that I am, I would not dare go out from this room tonight without the protecting presence of the Holy Spirit. No man can live spiritually and fight on for God who is not provided with every divine equipment."

"There is the poison of uncensored literature which fills the average mind with enough suggestions of evil to damn an Angel. I found a little girl lately in the sanctity of a Christian home, reading a magazine story that would have polluted a saint. What chance has a soul drugged with that sort of poison, to know the shining of His presence?"

"There is the uncensored movie film, with its unregulated stream of purification, which is flowing into the youthful mind of today, with all the corruptions of jazz, and the sensual indulgences of modern society. And these things are beating against the lowered resistance of the churches, with overwhelming attack."

"But most terrible of all is the modern attack against the citadels of the Christian faith. And this has come from within. Schools of thought have torn asunder the very Word of God and have thrown its mangled members upon the altars of our churches, until, to multitudes today, the Bible has ceased to be the 'Word of God Unto Salvation.' Faith has rendered to philosophy and no man knows the extent of the inroads of destructive criticism upon the life of the modern church. This is the Devil's chief scheme to put the church to sleep and render it dead to its evangelistic task."

"The promise of God's presence is to those who awake out of sleep. It is not too late to recapture many a citadel for God. Souls are in the balance as these days bring us another opportunity to know the evangelistic passion of Jesus."

Mr. Stilling sang, "Peace, Peace, Wonderful Peace!" Tuesday Dr. Birney spoke before the Rotary Club and in the afternoon began a series of afternoon messages upon the general theme, "The Holy Spirit." Tuesday night the subject will be "Over the Top—No Man's Land." The night has been set apart for ex-service men of three wars. On account of the lecture at the High School at 8:15 the meeting will begin at 7 o'clock promptly. A special invitation has also been extended to the ex-service men at Wilberforce to be present, and special seats will be reserved for them.

Dr. Birney's subject Wednesday afternoon will be "The Holy Spirit—The Empowered Church." His subject at 7:30 p. m., will be "The Family Name of God."

PRESBYTERIANS AND TRINITY M. E. TOSSERS ARE LEAGUE WINNERS

BY L. J. WONES

The First Presbyterian and Trinity M. E. Church teams were the winners in the Church League Monday night at Central High School gym when they conquered the First M. E. and Christ Episcopal teams.

The Presbyterians, after trailing by a 7 to 4 score at the half came from behind and scored four points while they held the Methodists to naught. Two long baskets by Prugh from the center of the floor made shortly after the half was under way put them in front for keeps. Prugh, Clemens and W. Wade played best for the winners while North and Henrie starred for the First M. E. five.

The Trinity M. E. had little trouble of disposing of the Episcopal Church team, the final score reading 22 to 1 in their favor. Harold Jordan and Howard Jordan played stellar ball for the winners while a foul tossed by P. McDonald saved his five from a shut-out. This was the first game won by the Trinity bunch while it was the second straight defeat for the Episcopalists. The Presbyterians win over the First M. E. puts them in a tie for first place with the First U. P.

Wednesday night at the gym the Second U. P. will play the First U. P. while Trinity will play the Friends Church. The first game will get under way at 8 o'clock.

PIONEERS

John B. Day, who gave New York its first Giants baseball team, died in New York in poverty.

He went the way of other pioneers, who blaze a trail for the big money that comes after they are gone. Thus hardy settlers cleared lands and settled in timber stretches that later brought fortunes to their descendants, although they themselves lived in hardship.

John Day founded a baseball club that has earned its owners in recent years, thousands of dollars. It was on the foundation that he built, that these men created colossal fortunes, for Day lost his wealth fighting for the preservation of the National League and the New York Club against the outlaw brotherhood league in the early nineties.

It is a truism that the successful paths of every field of endeavor are dotted with the whitened bones of the pioneer.

BRYAN

William Jennings Bryan, who failed of a presidency and since has been keeping in the limelight by whetting his tongue on those who believe men are descended from apes, has developed an altruistic viewpoint.

It is possible, however, that Mr. Bryan has always been an altruist, and that he was seeking the presidency so diligently, in order that he might thus gain a position that would greatly increase his opportunity to carry out the practice of turning the other cheek.

The latest move of Mr. Bryan, suggests that he can be delightfully generous when the generosity will not particularly affect the size of his own pocketbook. He has offered for the consideration of President Coolidge the idea of America cancelling all the war obligations due it, in consideration that nations owing this money shall scrap their armament.

It has evidently not occurred to the Commoner that the cancellation of the debt would be such a financial boon to these other nations that they would be in a better position than ever to increase instead of decrease their armament.

The indebtedness on the ledger is the result of armament purchased by these nations during war times, and if America makes them pay their debts, perhaps they won't be so ready to spend borrowed money for those products in the future.

Mr. Bryan's idea of world peace is fine, but we are nearer to achieving that situation when those nations that owe us money are in proximity to bankruptcy than if they are as financially affluent as they would be, if they were to receive Mr. Bryan's charming little donation.

FARM AND CITY ARE CLOSER

At a recent farm gathering a speaker emphasized what he termed the "conflicting interests" of the country and city. He inferred that a feeling of enmity, sometimes of contempt, often characterized the relations of these two sections of the population. Fortunately this attitude was not shared by others at the meeting and the opinion was expressed by several persons that the interests of both farm and city would best be served where there was co-operation and a spirit of friendship.

There was a time when the people of the cities and rural districts were separated in important particulars. Travel from one to the other was difficult and means of communication were few. Each farm home was more or less a community in itself, and was fairly independent of outside connection. The farmer produced most of what he needed for himself and had limited concern with markets of his products. Also, the people of the cities saw slight value in good roads, and were not interested in rural schools or development generally. There is still a conflict at times in the attitude of the two sections toward legislation and other matters.

But the differences in interests and points of view have been disappearing. The motor car, the telephone, good roads, mail facilities and other modern conveniences have helped to erase the line that once separated the country from the city. Drawing distinction between the two now is largely an arbitrary matter. Few American cities can prosper without prosperity in adjacent farm territory, and the urban centers have become increasingly dependent on the products of the farm. Similarly, the farmer must look to industrial centers for many of the goods he uses, and to buy these he must find a market, also in the cities, for his own products. Where there is antagonism or a selfish striving for advantage between the farm and city today there is bound to be mutual loss. Where co-operation is the rule, mutual profit is the result.—Kansas City Star.

TOO LATE

Oh, whether it be a train or ship to bear me on my way,
Or whether it be a friendly call and a cheery word to say,
Or whether it be a rose I send with love for a fellow mate,
Let me not linger and have it said: "You have come, but you're just too late!"

Ror the train pulls out and the ship departs and the lagged stays behind,
And little use for the tardy soul does the old world seem to find;
And life goes on in its steadfast way, for none will it ever wait,
And yain are the joy and love we bring if we come to the door too late.

Let me come to the station, or pier of life in time for the ship or train,
Let me prove my love when the need is great and not when the proof is vain;
Let me tell it all with my friendly deeds, not rush at the end to state
Poor words which the living had smiled to hear, but are spoken at last too late.
Let me be a friend to my friends to-day, let them know what I think and feel;
Let the man I am and the deeds I do the depth of my love reveal;
Let me stand with them in the battle's heat, when the need for a friend is great,
And not trust it all to a wreath of flowers which is sent to his home, too late!

1905-Twenty Years Ago-1925

There was certainly a fine exhibit of basketball at the rink last night when the local team defeated the Sophomore team from O. S. U. by a score of 34 to 5. At the meeting of the city Council Friday night an ordinance was introduced which provides that the police force shall consist of seven members instead of five as at the present. The Cedarville Athletic Association has started with forty-five members in a promising way. A temperature of 30 degrees below zero is pretty cold weather but even colder weather is promised in this city soon.

their first victory Friday night when they played Jamestown High School. The score being 9 to 14 in favor of Caesar Creek.

The Boys' and Girls' basketball teams will play Ross High School Friday night, January 30th at Ross High School.

The High School furnished music for the revival services at Paintersville M. P. Church, Wednesday evening.

Today's Talks

CRUSHED BEAUTY

The other day I came across some dry, crushed flowers that had been given to me by a little girl over 30 years ago. All the sweetened memories of years flooded my silent heart.

The living fragrance that the wind gathered in its lap as it sped by was only a memory. But the unfathomable fragrance of this crushed floral beauty was as fresh as ever.

It made me think of the radiating gentleness behind every lovely smile of my Mother, of every running, scampering scent of the spring's breath of the silent song of the sun-set.

Not until a flower is crushed does its rarest worth loom and compound. A life crushed with sorrow, suffering and disappointment, rises far above its former estate and enlarges its very frame, so long as it remains brave and unafraid.

Morely Roberts in his book about George Glasing, which he garments under the title of "The Private Life of Henry Maitland," says that "the sort of poverty which crushed the aspiring is the keynote to the best work he did."

Gissing walked arm in arm with poverty, disappointment and unhappiness nearly all his life, but from it came great sweetness and beauty of character and a love for all that fragrant this earth.

"My walk," says this lover of beauty, "in the golden hours leads me to a great horse-chestnut, whose roots offers a convenient seat in the shade of its foliage. At that resting place I have no wide view before me, but what I see is enough—a corner of wasteland, overflown with poppies and charlock, on the edge of a field of corn. The brilliant red and yellow harmonize with the glory of the day. Near by, too, is a hedge covered with great white blooms of bindweed. My eyes do not soon grow weary."

If every day we tighten in our hearts the experience of our life's severest losses, I am sure that the crushed essence of it all will mean an influence the fastest wind would want to carry to the furthestmost parts of this earth.

How to Put on Firm Flesh

The most amazing discovery that an extract of glands will put on good solid flesh, give strength and youthful vigor to thin, scrawny, ailing people, has just recently been announced, by the gland scientists at Newburgh, N. Y.

The glands of the human body, which in some people wear out, lie idle or become exhausted long before their time, can now be renewed AND "WHIPPED" INTO ACTION by this extract of genuine glands called "Kath." Doctors report weight increases of as high as 33 and 41 lbs. by patients taking Kath as prescribed. America's richest men and women are reported to have paid thousands just to be the first to secure the gland treatment.

The undersigned druggist is authorized to sell Kath at very reasonable cost and to guarantee that if it does not put on firm flesh and make you feel better WITHIN ONE SINGLE MONTH, your money is to be refunded.

There are also six provisions made under the privately owned vehicle or motor driven car clause that will pay you $2,000.00 in case of an accident, and while you may not enjoy the money to the fullest extent, still this sum will go a long way toward rent and the necessities of life while you are recuperating. Drivers of all trucks and wagons are included in this clause.

Then, too, the Gazette and Republican policy pays you $10.00 per week for 15 weeks in case you meet with an accident that does not entitle you to the major payments provided in the policy.

MORAL CODE FOR CHILDREN PRESENTED IN MAGAZINE USED AS THEME BY MINISTER HERE

"If I want to be a happy useful citizen I must have Courage and Hope
I must be brave—This means I must be brave enough and strong enough to control what I think and what I say and what I do, and I must always be hopeful because hope is power for improvement. (Scripture References Deut. 31:6-7 23. Josh. 1:6,9,8)
WISDOM—I must act wisely. In school, at home, playing, working reading or talking. I must learn how to choose the good and avoid the bad. (Scripture Ref. Psalm 119:36)
INDUSTRY AND GOOD HABITS—I must make my character strong. My character is what I am. If not in the eyes of others, then in the eyes of my own conscience. Good thoughts in my mind will keep out bad thoughts. When I am busy doing good I shall have no time to do evil. I can build my character by training myself in good habits." 1. Pet. 3:16
KNOWLEDGE AND USEFULNESS—I must make my mind strong. The better I know myself, and my fellows, and the world about me, the happier and more useful I shall be. I must always welcome useful knowledge in school, at home, everywhere (2 Cor. 13:5 Acts 19:19 Matt. 5:33)
TRUTH AND HONESTY—I must be truthful and honest. I must know what is true in order to do what is right. I must tell the truth without fear. I must be honest in all my dealings and in all my thoughts. Unless I am honest I cannot have self-respect. (Proverbs 3:3. Psalms 138:4. Romans 12:17)
HEALTHFULNESS AND CLEANLINESS—I must make my body strong. My eyes, my teeth, my heart my whole body must be healthy so that my mind can work properly. I must keep physically and a morally clean (Acts 27: 34. Acts 3:16. Amos 4:6. Psalm 18:20 Ps. 21:10)
HELPFULNESS AND USEFULNESS—I must use my strength to help others who need help. If I am strong I can help others. I can be kind. I can forgive those who hurt me and I can help and protect the weak, the suffering, the young and the old, and dumb animals. Romans 12:9, 10, 11; 2 Cor. 1:21. Ephesians 4:32.

CHARITY—(Love) I must love God who created not only this earth but all men of all races, nations and creeds, who are my brothers. I must love my parents, my home, my neighbors my country, and be loyal to all these. (Deut. 5:16; Matt. 22:37; Matt. 5:44. Luke 6:32)
"HUMILITY AND REVERENCE—I must know that there are always more things to learn. What I may know is small compared to what can be known. I must respect all who have more wisdom than I, and have reverence for all that is good. And I must know how and whom to obey. (Prov. 22:4. Prov. 15:13. Micah. 6:8 Heb. 12:9)
FAITH AND RESPONSIBILITY—I must do all these things because I am accountable to God, and to humanity for how I live and how I can help my fellows and for the extent to which my fellows may trust and depend upon me. "Matt. 7:12 Hab. 2:4 Luke 16:10-12 Matt. 25:25: 21,23.)
We are indebted to Colliers Weekly for this effort to prepare something which will conform to all ideas of modern teaching and can be included without bias in any public school. And with the few Scripture references herein given we can have workable scriptural basis for everything herein contained. We need not discourage truth and right if they are stated in our Biblical terms. What we want is the child to know and follow, Courage and Hope, Wisdom, Industry and Good Habits, Knowledge and Usefulness, Truth and Honesty, Healthfulness and Cleanliness, Helpfulness and Unselfishness, Charity, Humility and Reverence, Faith and Responsibility. All of these will make him a good citizen. It takes more to make one a good Christian. Wm. H. Tilford.

FIRE CAPTAIN GLEN RAYBURN CALLED BY DEATH MONDAY NIGHT

James Glen Rayburn, 45, captain of the Xenia Fire Department, died at McCallan Hospital Monday night at 11 o'clock. He underwent an operation for the amputation of his right leg a week ago last Saturday and since that time his condition grew gradually critical.

The amputation of his leg followed myo-carditis, a clotting of the blood, caused by an injury received while firemen, in charge of Captain Rayburn, were fighting a blaze several weeks ago. Physicians hoped to save his life by the amputation but his weakened condition resulted in his death, after pneumonia developed.

Mr. Rayburn would have been forty-six years of age next March 19, and spent practically all of his life in Xenia. He was a member of the Xenia Fire Department since 1913 and was promoted to captain four years ago. He was considered a valuable member of the department.

Mr. Rayburn is survived by his widow, who was before marriage Miss Bertha McKinney, their marriage taking place twenty-six years ago. The following children also survive: Errol Rayburn, Xenia; Mrs. Vernon Swindler, Dayton; Ralph, Anna Elmore, Jane and Betty, of Xenia, with the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Morton Filmore, Kirkland, Ind.; Mrs. Ralph Gilmore, Portsmouth, O.; Edward Rayburn, Evanston Ill.; Allan Rayburn of Lorain, O.; Guy and Reed Rayburn, of Columbus.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed and will be announced later.

BRITISH STATEMENT WILL BE DELAYED

London, Jan. 27.—The British foreign office let it be known today that in all probability the British statement to France on the Anglo-French debt would be delayed two or three weeks.

The British government realizes, it was pointed out, that the French government has met with popular opposition to any debt settlement. Therefore it was emphasized Britain is anxious to make it as easy as possible for France to accept the British proposals. In the interim, it was said, the British cabinet and the treasury will consider a number of alternative proposals.

CONVICT CONTRACT FOR LABOR ILLEGAL

Moundsville, W. Va., Jan. 27.—A bitterly fought case involving convict labor was at an end today following voiding of a contract by Judge Morris in Marshall circuit court here.

The contract, awarded the Gordon Shirt Company by the state board of control, empowered the firm to utilize services of 400 convicts at the state penitentiary for a compensation of seventy cents a day. Marcellus A. Joliff, plaintiff in the case, was represented by U. S. Senator M. M. Neely. The contract was declared illegal on the ground that it had not been properly advertised according to law.

(Drawing: The Dragon)
When finally the knave who stole the dragon's cup led Beowulf to the lair of this all-destroying creature, the king stationed his nobles on a hillock and went forth to meet his enemy. Soon the dragon scented Beowulf and rushed forth to do battle—breathing noxious flames and gasses.

A most mighty combat then ensued. And all save one faithful thane, called Wiglaf, fled in terror—seeing this mortal engagement. Sore-scorched and afflicted was Beowulf when Wiglaf rushed forward and dealt the dragon

EQUIP FLYING DOG WITH SAFETY DEVICE

It is not usual that dogs are equipped with an airplane parachute but there are rare exceptions.

There is at least one canine outfitted with this aerial appendage. Lieut. J. C. McDuffie, who stopped off at Wilbur Wright Field Saturday is the owner of the dog, which is a hairless Mexican canine.

The pup is being transported by Lieut. McDuffie from Texas to New York. It was presented to him as a gift while in Texas.

Mechanics at the Fairfield post noticed a queer looking crate in the ship when Lieut. McDuffie landed. Careful examination of the contents revealed a small pup shivering from the cold, crouched inside, shivering despite the inner lining of wool and heavy blankets.

While Lieut. McDuffie procured some warm milk for his passenger, mechanics at the field rigged up the box with a parachute to be used only in an emergency.

PASSENGER HURT AS AUTO LEAVES ROAD

The Buick Six touring car owned and driven by Harry Gardner, this city was badly damaged and Gardner's companion, John Cyphers, also of this city received a deep scalp wound, when the machine skidded on the icy road, near the Alpha School, Saturday night and ran into the ditch.

Gardner, who was unhurt, lost control of the car, when it began to skid on the ice. The machine ran into the ditch and struck a tree. The top of the machine was torn off.

HE WAS LUCKY

IS VIGOROUS RACE TO RESULT FROM RECENT DISCOVERY

In a recent investigation among public school children it was discovered that fully 40% were suffering from mal-nutrition and vitamin deficiency—actually starving from lack of nourishing elements in their food. Medical men and scientists generally are convinced that this condition has existed for years, and is probably responsible for weakness, nervousness and other evidence of premature aging among our adults.

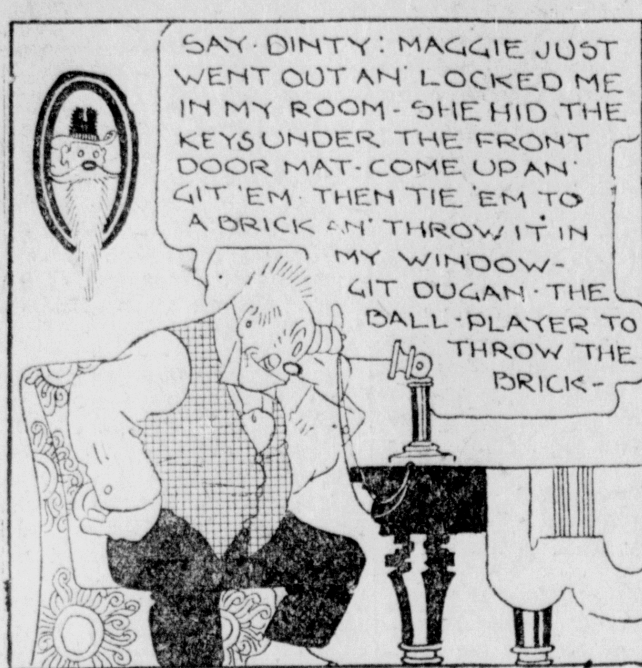

Physicians have obtained startling results through a new feeding or building process with cod liver oil, and many are strong in their recommendations of a new easy-to-take form of pure Norwegian cod liver oil which also contains blood-building nerve-strengthening vitamins and pure cocoa. It is called CocoCod.

Children who refuse ordinary cod liver oil take CocoCod gladly and thrive mightily on it. No less wonderful is its effect on adults of all ages. Men and women who have been pale, anemic, listless and moody, become rosy with health and alive with energy. As rich blood is built up under this feeding process, eyes become brighter and the step more brisk. You fairly tingle with the sheer joy of living, all because your starved system is being nourished by the rich vitamins which CocoCod contains.

Is a vigorous race to result from this discovery? Many believe that it is. Strong blood and calm nerves are the making of a virile people, and CocoCod certainly has a tendency to create both.

Local druggists who have arranged to distribute CocoCod, and physicians and teachers as well, have been fully informed concerning its value. Be sure, therefore, that you secure the genuine CocoCod, the new easy-to-take cod liver oil and vitamin preparation.

The Husband Tamer by VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "The Half-Time Wife," "The Luxury of Love" etc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

PATRICIA CLEVE has become estranged from her husband.

ANDREW CLEVE, who lives only for his business and expects her to give up everything to entertain his clients. She rebels and visits her sister, and he goes abroad. She is thrown with

GREGORY HEWITT, a famous financier to whom her husband has introduced her, who falls in love with her, and whom she cannot ignore because of the help which he can give her sister's husband.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

XLV—A CAREER OF PROMISE

FROM day to day Patricia kept putting off replying to Andrew's letter telling her to communicate with his lawyers about getting a divorce. She had no time for introspection or for brooding over her separation from him. Every day was crowded with engagements—and when an idle half hour confronted her she rushed out to the avenue and shopped. "There wouldn't be nearly so much unhappiness in the world," Linda Boyce announced to her one day when she had joined her at luncheon in one of the smart little French cafes just off the Avenue. "If every woman had money enough to go and buy a new hat whenever she felt miserable."

"Perhaps you're right," Pat admitted. "But even though I have the money I'm glad I have something to occupy my mind as well."

"I wish you'd take me along with you and let me see what you're doing," Linda urged. "If there is room for another frivolous woman in the profession I'd like to take it up. You look simply radiant and I feel like a last year's car that has been driven too far. Last night I had to leap into my newest flurry at the last minute after planning for a quiet evening at home. Dick was taking some people from Boston out to dinner and he had just learned that they hadn't seen the Folies. So we all went there and then we went to the El Fay Club to dance. You know it is worse than a subway jam since it is rumored the Prince of Wales went there one night when he slipped away from the society entertainments given for him."

"Tell me Pat, what do you do evenings?" Pat looked at her and then broke into an infectious smile.

"Don't laugh when I tell you. I read school catalogues and talk over college entrance requirements with poor and earnest young people. Mr. Gillespie sets aside a fund to send deserving young people through college and I am in charge of deciding whether or not they are deserving. Then I help them choose their college and decide how big an allowance they will need. They all seem terribly deserving and pathetic to me and I'd like to give them enough to go out and have a roaring good time. There was one young man the other day who was going to Yale. It had been his life aim and he had worked in a garment factory and night trying to save the money for his tuition but a lot of sickness among his little brothers and sisters wiped that fund out. After we had planned about where he would live and how big an allowance he would get I just couldn't resist taking him to a good tailor and having some decent clothes made for him. He was horrified at the thought of paying one hundred and thirty-five dollars for a single suit! I couldn't help thinking of how surprised Andrew would be to see me marching in to order clothes for a husky young garage mechanic with ambitions."

"And is that all there is to it? Don't you get lonely sometimes? And what sort of man is this Mr. Gillespie?" Linda shot the questions at her suddenly.

"There isn't anything in what you're thinking," Pat laughingly

"I help these deserving young people choose their colleges," explained Pat.

assured her. "Mr. Gillespie is a very kindly old man who seems pleased to have me help him give away his money in a way that all organized and in a man charities would disapprove of heartily. But he isn't in love with me, or I with him. And oh, Linda, I do get lonely sometimes. I'm afraid that if I passed a restaurant where there was a good jazz band I'd break down and sob."

"Well, I don't know, of course, if it interests you," Linda remarked casually. "But Andrew doesn't look very happy either."

That afternoon Pat had to attend a meeting of the trustees of a Newsboys' Home, and her heart fluttered when she saw that the bank where the meeting was to be held, was within a few doors of Andrew's office.

What would she do if she were to meet him? She would have to some day, for even New York wasn't big enough to keep separate two whose interests were so much bound up in one another.

And before she had reached any decision about it, just as her taxi deposited her in front of the bank where the meeting was to be held, she got out and confronted—her husband!

The most remarkable tobacco ever offered to pipe smokers—in quality, in value, in taste

Back about 1870, James N. Wellman developed a secret tobacco process which won instant and widespread favor. It yielded a fuller-bodied richness, mildness and fragrance which just seemed to "go" with a pipe. No one else ever knew his secret until we acquired "Wellman's Method" and by its means made "Granger Rough Cut"

ENTIRE ISLAND IS SWALLOWED BY SEA

RESIDENTS DIE WHEN HUGE WAVE WIPES OUT LAND

Population In Doubt And Number of Victims Is Unknown

Sailors Gibbering With Fright Tell Story—Owned By Portugal

London, Jan. 27.—The Portuguese government has received confirmation of the engulfing of the island of Port Alexander by the sea, according to a dispatch received by the Evening News today.

Passing ships brought first news that the island had been swallowed, receiving their accounts from sailors who gibbered with fright as they related their escape from the waves.

It was not learned whether any foreign ships were in port when the island disappeared beneath the sea. The majority of the island's inhabitants were white, but, as no accurate account of its population was available, the number of victims was not determined.

The few sailors who escaped told of a huge wave which seemed to rise and sweep over the island. Vessels which escaped the wave stood by to pick up what few survivors remained.

The Evening News said the island was large enough to maintain a population of 15,000. The Portuguese legation lacked definite information on the catastrophe, but explained that the city of Pinda, of which the island was the port, lies on the mainland and is the residential section for both the city and its port.

It was the legation's understanding that only the sandy peninsula stretching out from the mainland to Port Alexander were washed away and therefore the loss of life might be small.

London, Jan. 27.—Wreckage and scores of bodies eddying on the tides near the site of Port Alexander were all that remained today of the island swallowed by the sea, according to meagre and unconfirmed reports reaching here via Paris. The disaster visiting the little Portuguese island off West Africa remained for the most part a mystery. Maritime circles had no confirmation of the reports that Port Alexander had been destroyed.

It was believed however, there were no survivors except sailors aboard craft in the harbor, who were able to escape by putting to sea. An earthquake was believed responsible. Although the disaster was reported Sunday, it may be days, even weeks before definite information is received, probably from ships whose courses lay by the place where the island stood.

BOGGS BOYS AWAIT ARRAIGNMENT UNDER HEAVY GUARD FORCE

Hillsboro, O., Jan. 27.—A heavy guard stood over Dan and John Boggs, Jackson, O., slayers Monday, as they waited their arraignment Tuesday here on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Harry T. McGill, Highland County deputy surveyor a week ago. McGill had assisted in arresting them for robbery here last Tuesday.

Under indictment for murder in the first degree, the two bandits were brought here from Springfield Friday night and placed on the second floor of the county jail as a precaution against possible violence. Feeling is running high here.

The boys are expected to plead not guilty to the charge and the trial may be set for sometime in March, it is thought by defense attorneys. "I intend to rush the trial," said Harold Predmore, prosecuting attorney. "If my investigation is complete, the trial will start a week from Monday."

FIVE COUNTIES ARE UNDER WATER FROM SOUTHERN FLOODS

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 27.—South Georgia is suffering from one of the worst floods in the history of that section. Today five counties are practically buried beneath acres of roaring water, caused by torrential rains in the northern part of the State.

Cattle have been drowned by scores, acres of land have been washed over, fences destroyed and light buildings carried away like toy houses.

Damage, it is now estimated, will reach several hundred thousand dollars.

Several towns have appealed for aid from the American Red Cross and some relief supplies already have been sent into the district. Train service today was still badly interrupted. Washouts on several lines have concentrated movements into Florida through one channel and schedules have been abandoned in some cases.

On the other side of the southern tier of states, where the rivers empty into the Atlantic, the situation is just as desperate. Newton, the county seat of Baker county, is inundated. Not a one of the town's 400 residents has been left in the town, according to word reaching here. Water is said to have mounted until it covers the top of telephone poles. That is the highest the Altamaha river has ever reached.

McIntosh county, which borders the seacoast, is also hard hit.

Two representatives of the Red Cross have been sent from Atlanta to Brunswick to make a survey of the situation there.

Doctortown is submerged and no word has been received as to the fate of the residents. So far no loss of life has been reported from the southern area, was fulfilled today in the states bordering the Mississippi river, and the storm was slowly moving toward the Atlantic seaboard, according to reports reaching Atlanta.

Rain and sleet fell all night in Little Rock and snow began falling early this morning.

Memphis reported temperature below freezing with sleet, snow and rain the visiting elements.

New Orleans and Mobile reported a light rain with temperature about normal.

At Birmingham, the temperature was 45 at dawn. Rain which had been falling all night ceased.

Cold, cloudy weather was reported from Vicksburg. Rain was threatening. Atlanta awoke in balmy temperature but a light rain had fallen and there was promise of more.

Sleet was falling and a high wind blowing at Nashville.

Chattanooga reported cold, cloudy weather, with the thermometer falling.

BLIZZARD BEARING COLD WIND AND HEAVY SNOW VISITS OHIO AND WEST VIRGINIA

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 27.—The capital today was blanketed under nearly an inch of snow that fell steadily during the night and continued unabated all morning.

Traffic was delayed in the congested districts although not to an appreciable extent.

Zanesville, O., Jan. 27.—The entire Muskingum valley from Coshocton to Marietta and the Licking Valley from Newark to this city are covered with snow to the depth of from four to six inches as the result of a heavy snowfall during last night.

High winds drifted the snow along country roads and rural traffic is greatly impeded.

Newark, O., Jan. 27.—A blizzard which gathered force during last night, rendered this city to a real

DOLAN TO TELL STORY OF BASEBALL SCANDAL SOON

Former Giant Coach Has Been Summoned To New York—Attorney Says He Will Come—Prosecutor Will Not Divulge Plans.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
New York, Jan. 27.—Cozy Dolan, the man who may yet get around to the matter of remembering what he forgot, if anything, is coming back to Broadway within the next forty-eight hours to answer for his part, if any, in baseball's latest scandal.

His attorney, William J. Fallon, reaffirmed today his statement that Dolan will welcome a reopening of the case, but neglected to state just when Cozy will furnish visible evidence of this sentiment.

One report had it that Dolan will appear at the district attorney's office today to be questioned at or about the same time as Horace Ford, Philadelphia second baseman, the first man to whom Sand told of O'Connell's attempted bribery.

But nothing has been heard of Dolan leaving his home at Oshkosh, Wis. In fact Dolan's silence has been almost painful during recent months.

Assistant District Attorney Brothers conducting the investigation, is believed to know of Dolan's intentions, but Brothers is saying very little these days. He did admit, however, that if Dolan declines to appear, nothing could be done about it.

The former Giant coach, alleged by O'Connell to have been the inspiration behind his (O'Connell's) attempted bribe, has been barred from baseball; therefore, he no longer is under the jurisdiction of Judge Landis' office. The

FATTY DIVORCED

Paris, January 27.—The Seine tribunal today granted a divorce to Mrs. Armita Duffee Arbuckle from Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, former film comedian, who was tried three times and finally acquitted on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe. The Arbuckles were married in Los Angeles Aug. 5, 1908.

TURNKEY CHARGED WITH STEALING IN BOOZE RAIDING WAR

East Liverpool, O., Jan. 27.—As an aftermath of the East Liverpool-Wellsville liquor raiders war, a warrant charging City Jail Turnkey William A. Cline with the theft of a revolver valued at $40, was issued by Justice of the Peace Zimmerman of Lisbon today.

The information was preferred by Dam Appel, of near Wellsville, whose farm was raided by Cline and others on January 3.

Appel, unable to pay a $2,000 fine, assessed by Mayor Charles Brown of East Liverpool, was committed to the Columbia county jail at Lisbon.

Cline, it was said, would voluntarily go to Lisbon to face the charge.

MRS. CARRIE HARBISON DIES AT CEDARVILLE

Mrs. Carrie Harbison, 82, one of Greene County's oldest residents passed away at her home on Xenia avenue in Cedarville, Monday at midnight. Death was directly due to apoplexy, from which she had been ailing for ten days.

Mrs. Harbison spent all of her life in the vicinity of Cedarville. Her husband died thirteen years ago and she is survived by four sons and one daughter, Daniel Harbison, Pittsburgh, Pa., William Harbison, Clark's Run, Frank Harbison at home, Robert Harbison of Columbus and Miss Elsie Harbison at home.

She was the last member of her family, her maiden name being Reed. She was a life-long member of the Reformed Presbyterian Church at Cedarville.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock, at the residence, with interment in Massies' Creek Cemetery.

BIRDS BOB HATS

Flushing, Jan. 27.—Women who visit the G. W. Henderson barber shop here in search of hairbobs have learned not leave hats or brilliant hues on tables, or chairs, adjoining Henderson's aviary, containing forty birds, said to be one of the largest displays of imported birds in Ohio. An African oriole is able to reach through the meshes of the cage and rip ribbons, or plumes, from the headgear with ease, patrons declared. Henderson, one of the leading colored residents of this district, has maintained the bird display in one end of his shop thirty-three years.

SITUATION IS TENSE

PROPOSANTS OF AMENDMENT TRY TO SAVE MEASURE

Hope to Postpone Vote On Ratification of Labor Bill.

Columbus, O., Jan. 27.—Desperate last minute efforts of advocates of the proposed federal child labor amendment to stave off final action which would kill chances of ratification of the proposal by the Ohio legislature will be made ready today when the question of ratification reaches the voting stage in the house.

Aiding them will be a group of legislators who wish to avoid an out and out vote on the question of ratification. The major parties are pledged to support ratification of the proposed amendment, but the overwhelming majority of Republicans in the House is heavily against ratification, it is claimed.

The method to be sought to avoid the dilemma will be the presentation of a motion to postpone consideration of the project. This will permit debate on the question of ratification. There is a question whether sufficient votes to pass the motion can be mustered. Senator Silver said today. If the motion is lost, the house will face a direct vote on the question. If it carries, a provision will be inserted that the question may not be raised again except by two thirds vote, it was predicted.

Both houses reconvened Monday evening after the over-Sunday recess. The house passed the bill sponsored by Representative May M. Van Wyre, Hamilton county, specifically exempting administrative officers of colleges and universities from civil service. Fifteen house bills were introduced. The senate hastened to memorial tributes to two former members, Thomas L. Gifford, Lucas and M. B. Archer, Noble County.

Desire of senate leaders to add technical amendments to the emergency financial relief bill may delay final passage of the measure until next week. The bill was considered Monday night by the senate tax committee when decision to submit amendments was made. They were to be drafted and ready for introduction to concurrence of the house to the amendments, will be necessary before the bill is sent to Governor Donahay.

The house adopted resolutions recognizing the late Mrs. Warren G. Harding and adjourned out of respect to the memory of the late President Harding.

Administration of the state department of welfare by a seven member board, appointed by the governor, subject to confirmation by the senate, is sought in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Herbert, Franklin County.

The board would be empowered to appoint the state director of welfare and to name five member visiting boards for all state institutions.

Other bills introduced in the house, include:

By Baxter, Allen, providing for religious instruction in children's homes; by Hume, Delaware, requiring other laws to stop while school buses are loading or unloading; by Overturf, Licking, raising annual pay of municipal officers as follows: judge from maximum of $2,000 to minimum of $2,500, clerk from maximum of $1,500 to minimum of $2,000, and bailiffs from maximum of $1,000 to minimum of $1,500; Miss Osa Penny, Montgomery, requiring private hearing of divorce cases and interlocutory decree for a year; McDonald, Montgomery, providing that 10, or more, tax payers in any taxing district, before proposed bond issue is voted on, may appeal to duly constituted boards of state officials to determine desirability of project; by Penny, providing a maximum fine of $200 or three months in jail or both for defrauding garage keeper; by Fox, Montgomery, making mandatory the filing of plans for county bridges ten days before date for receiving bids; by Johnston, Richland, appropriating $60,000 for erection of an armory at Mansfield.

GEE SING COOKS UP WITCH'S MIXTURE, CATCH 'EM VELLY GOOD KICK, BUT JOHN LAW STEPS IN

Akron, O., Jan. 27.—When Shakespeare described the witch's mixture in Macbeth he may have had in mind Gee Sing, a Chinese laundryman of Akron. For Indian fakirs, voodoo men, delirium tremens, hop dreams and jazz mania have nothing on Gee's distillations.

Officers Turner, Silkknitter and Little raided the laundryman's place of business today and confiscated some mash and a quart of liquor. In the liquid which Sing admits selling by not denying the fact, there was a snake for every swallow, for a two foot serpent was found crinkled up in the mash. Also there were bits of

Washington, Jan. 27.—"Reduce your expenses and cut your payroll."

The army of bureau chiefs and department heads that constitute the machinery of the federal government had this direct order today from President Coolidge. It is his first general order of the new year and he left no doubt in the minds of several hundred bureau heads who heard it that only strict compliance with it will find favor with the White House.

The expenditures for 1925, Mr. Coolidge said, must be brought at least $62,000,000 under the budget estimates already sent to congress. This cut will be necessary he said, to bring total expenses for running the government this year under the three billion dollar mark.

The president believes there are at present too many names on the payroll. He asked departmental chiefs to scan their personnel lists and reduce them.

If his recommendations are successfully executed, he declared, it will mean tax reduction by the new 69th congress, due to convene in December.

"The people," said the president, "have not only been impatient under the heavy burden of war taxation, but they have been heroic. So far as it is in my power, I propose to continue my efforts for economy in federal expenditures. What we have done thus far is only a beginning."

Kindig, director of apiculture for Michigan and president, American Honey Producers' League, and others.

DISORDERS MAY FOLLOW MOVES IN HERRIN WAR

Arrest of Lieutenant Of Young Adds Fuel To Condition

Herrin, Ill., Jan. 27.—With tension increased, snow covered shivering Herrin prepared today for possible stirring developments. Four situations, amplified by the night's events were fraught today with disturbing contingencies.

The coroner's jury, its secret investigation finished, was to meet today for a public inquest into the death of Saturday's four victims.

The arrest of Glenn Fowler, Herrin Klansman, at Carbondale, on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, was ranking in Ku Klux Klan breasts as an insult to the memory of their late leader, S. Glenn Young.

The funeral of Ora Thomas, deputy sheriff and reputed head of the flaming Circle, was set for this afternoon.

A move was on foot to oust Sheriff Galligan from office. He was determined to stick and promised to issue a formal statement to that effect today.

All four of these situations were fertile today with promises of startling developments.

There were reports that testimony was to be "sprung" at the inquest, that John Smith, Klan leader, had shot and killed Ora Thomas with a rifle Saturday night, firing through an outside window. Smith ridiculed the report although he admitted he was with Young at the time of the shooting.

Fowler, a former body guard for Young, was arranging for bond today on the concealed weapon charge, it having been made as the result of last night's near-clash between Herrin klansmen and two Carbondale residents at Carbondale. Fowler, Burr Owen and several other klansmen had gone to Carbondale to meet the train bringing George B. Young, brother of the slain raider, from Cedar Rapids. The party stopped at a restaurant before driving to Herrin. Joe McGuire, editor of a Carbondale daily newspaper and Ray Prince, of Carbondale, entered the restaurant. Words passed between Fowler and McGuire and according to reports Fowler drew a gun.

McGuire called Sheriff White who arrived with five deputies. Fowler was arrested.

Three automatics were found on him, according to the sheriff.

Major Robert Davis, commanding the troops here, has ordered a strong detail to attend Thomas' funeral this afternoon. The military authorities were disturbed by reports that a number of St. Louis gangsters planned to attend the Thomas services. Herrin klansmen were said to have vowed "they would clean up" any such visitors.

Sheriff Galligan denied he had been requested to resign, but admitted that he had heard there was such a move on foot, by "Certain Kluxers."

He was emphatic in his determination to stick it out.

Many armed klansmen gathered at the Lyman hotel early in the night. It was reported they planned to ask all reporters and correspondents to leave the city. Their discussions were interrupted by the arrival of a squad of soldiers who ordered them to disperse. None of the klansmen would make any statement.

A picked clan bodyguard maintained an all night vigil over the body of Young at the first Baptist Church. At the head of the coffin was a glowing fiery cross. Young's funeral is scheduled for tomorrow.

DONAHEY WILL TALK AT SESSION OF OHIO PROTESTANT PASTORS

Columbus, Jan. 27.—Governor Donahay, Bishop Theodore S. Henderson, Cincinnati and State Prohibition Commissioner McDonald are among those scheduled to make addresses here tonight at the annual dinner in connection with the conference of about 760 Ohio Protestant pastors. The conference is being conducted under the auspices of the Ohio Council of Churches.

Today's sessions were marked by discussions of "co-operative evangelism" and "the church and public morals."

Talks tonight will deal with "cooperation between churches and public officials."

The conferees have adopted resolutions endorsing the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution and urging expansion of the week day Bible study classes in public schools.

A report was submitted that 450,000 school children, approximately are enrolled in these classes.

XENIA P. T. A. WORK IS COMMENDED BY EDUCATOR IN LETTER

Mrs. E. P. Hamlin, president of Central High School Parent-Teacher Association, has received a letter from the offices of Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the Ohio State University, illustrating the fame the success of the local P. T. A. has attained.

The results obtained by the Central High School P. T. A. and other associations in the city in the perfect cooperation of the parents, teachers and students, is said to be the envy of the other schools of the state and the Central High Association was recently declared by state P. T. A. officer to be "the only successful High School P. T. A. in the state."

The letter received by Mrs. Hamlin says, in part: "In conversation recently with one of the state officers of the Parent-Teacher Association, I was very much interested in learning that these associations had done some very constructive work in their communities along certain special lines.

"I was referred to your association as one which had, among other things, reported engaging in efforts to secure simplicity and suitability of dress for school girls, in definite efforts to make the teachers of your school feel more at home in your community and in bringing about better child welfare legislation.

"I am very much interested in learning how these achievements have been accomplished. It happens that just at present I am planning to present to my students—all of whom are prospective public school teachers—as well as another group of men and women who are leaders in Parent-Teacher Association work, some facts regarding the work of these organizations in Ohio. What you have done, others can do. A knowledge of the achievements of your association will be an incentive to others.

"We regard, too, the more intangible results of the work of Parent-Teacher Associations—the development of closer sympathy and understanding between school and home—as in itself, worth every effort that may be made to realize it. I shall be greatly interested in learning of any instances of what your organization has accomplished toward this most worthy end."

The letter was written by Raymond D. Bennett, who is seeking information on the local work to present to his classes.

CHINESE OBSERVE NEW YEAR'S DAY WITH OLD CEREMONIES

Civil dissensions, long wars and inter-country troubles and strife were cast aside by native Chinese in America Saturday in celebration of the Chinese holiday, New Year's Day.

Xenia's limited population of Mongolians did not take an active part in the observance, as all celebration was confined to the larger cities where the Chinese population is more dense. In other cities such as San Francisco, all the ancient rites and traditional customs were practiced.

Large signs, reading "Chu Men Chien Hsi," or "As you go out of the door, may you meet happiness," were tacked over all the doors of Chinese residences, laundries and places of business Saturday.

The holiday falls on the twenty-third day of the last (present) moon—and for seven days preceding this holiday, Chinese in the country have strictly adhered to their old ceremonial rights.

Sohn's Drug Store's Great Offer To Chronic Rheumatic Sufferers

*Money Back If Allenhu Fails To Do You More Good
Than Anything You Ever Used

"It does not matter to me whether you are disabled with cursed rheumatism or have only occasional twinges," says James H. Allen. "I know that Allenhu, my own discovery, will stop the agony, do away with the gnawing pains and reduce the swollen joints."

"I know it will dissolve the uric acid deposits that have become deeply imbedded in joints and muscles and quickly drive every trace of rheumatism from your body. I know this because I was crippled for years and many times was unable to work, and Allenhu made a well, robust, healthy man of me."

"I know because since I cured myself, hundreds have taken Allenhu and speedily rid themselves of this agonizing disease."

Allenhu is no laggard; it starts right in at once; it gets into the blood, searches out the poisonous uric acid deposit and in two days starts to drive the concentrated impurities that cause rheumatism, out of the body through the natural channels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days—even in cases where the suffering has been most painful all traces have disappeared in a few days.

James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St. Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenhu, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenhu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases.

With this understanding he has instructed Sohn's Drug Store and druggists everywhere to guarantee it in every instance. adv

CHURCH NEEDS TO AWAKE EVANGELIST SAYS IN REVIVAL SERMON ON PEOPLE WHO SNORE

There was nothing like "blue Monday" at the First Methodist Episcopal Church Monday night in spite of the bad weather, when a large audience gathered to hear the first week-night sermon of Evangelist George Hugh Birney, and enjoy the singing under the leadership of Raymond Stillings and the chorus.

Following the evening service the pastors and evangelist met with the Sunday School Boards to plan for the evangelistic rally in the Sunday School next Sunday morning. A banner attendance of both schools is expected.

Dr. Birney's theme, addressed largely to church members, was "The Folks Who Snore in Church." The text was Ephesians 5:14: "Awake, thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead and Christ shall shine upon thee."

"The church," he said, "has been a great sleeper down the centuries—and that is why so much of the world still remains unsaved. The tidal waves of evangelistic zeal, under the power of the Holy Spirit flowing from Pentecost, came more nearly conquering the world for God than all our modern boast of missionary conquest today. But, wearying of her task, the church sought rest; and, lulled to sleep by worldliness and corruption, she filled the earth with her snorers through the dark ages. Now and then God would send a St. Augustine or an Anselm or a Thomas Aquinas or a Savonarola down the isles of the sleeping church, crying, 'Awake, awake, thou that sleepest.' The times of revival have come when the church has awakened to God's call, and, under the conquering tread of the Lord of Hosts the very earth has been shaken."

Dr. Birney described trying to sleep in a chalet hotel with the members of a band of musicians composed of all nationalities. "Every one of them," he said, "was snoring in the language in which he was born. It was the only time I have heard an international symphony in snorers, and I hope it will be the last. But what about an interdenominational symphony in snorers? Sometimes, I wonder what the church sounds like to God as He listens in upon the musical somnolence which characterizes such a large proportion of its attitude and action today. In so far as Xenia is unsaved tonight, it is because of the sleeping churches. There are enough churches to convert the whole county within the next ten days, if the trumpet of God could only awaken those who sleep while the Bridegroom tarries. Until the prayer-meeting becomes the most enthusiastic meeting of the church week, and the last church member becomes a torch of evangelism, the church will continue to be under the suspicion of sleeping away her days of grace."

"Many Christians are like sleep walkers, who are merely dead on their feet. They go through the gestures of walking, but their service is that of ghosts walking in their shrouds. They have a name that they are alive, but they are dead, so far as knowing the passion of Christ is concerned."

The evangelist described sleep as being caused by toxic poisons in the system, which, in turn, drug the body into unconsciousness. "If you never awake, you just stay dead! The sleep of the death of sin is caused by the toxic poisons of worldliness and corruption which drug the soul into spiritual unconsciousness. And it does not take much of such inoculation to render a church member spiritually dead. Nothing but the cleansing blood of Jesus can save a sleeping soul!"

Dr. Birney likened the se of gas in the war to the way Satan is putting over his barrage of asphyxiating poisons upon many who are even members of the church today. "Over there we had the phosgene and chlorine and mustard, and many others, each fatal in its own way, and no man could live on and fight in the air filled with their poisons. 90 per cent of the casualties of the war were from gas. More than once the only thing between my lungs and killing gases was my gas mask. But what about the poisoned air of the world filled with the very breath of hell, in which our children must live or die? Man that I am, I would not dare go out from this room tonight without the protecting presence of the Holy Spirit. No man can live spiritually and fight on for God who is not provided with every divine equipment."

"There is the poison of uncensored literature which fills the average mind with enough suggestions of evil to damn an Angel. I found a little girl lately in the sanctity of a Christian home, reading a magazine story that would have polluted a saint. What chance has a soul drugged with that sort of poison, to know the shining of His presence?"

"There is the uncensored movie film, with its unarrested stream of purification, which is flowing into the youthful mind of today, with all the corruptions of hell. What chance has the Gospel with the soul which lives and dreams in the terms of eternal sex triangle, and the suggestive situations featured in the average movie? Hollywood is making a moral swamp out of America and our children are sinking beneath its putrid waters."

"There is the mad rush of pleasure seeking, expressing itself in the intoxications of jazz, and the sensuous indulgences of modern society. And these things are beating against the lowered resistance of the churches, with overwhelming attack."

"But most terrible of all is the modern attack against the citadels of the Christian faith. And this has come from within. Schools of thought have torn asunder the very Word of God and have thrown its mangled members upon the altars of our churches, until, to multitudes today, the Bible has ceased to be the 'Word of God unto Salvation.' Faith has rendered to philosophy and no man knows the extent of the inroads of destructive criticism upon the life of the modern church. This is the Devil's chief scheme to put the church to sleep and render it dead to its evangelistic task."

"The promise of God's presence is to those who awake out of sleep. It is not too late to recapture many a citadel for God. Souls are in the balance as these days bring us another opportunity to know the evangelistic passion of Jesus."

Mr. Stillings sang, "Peace, Peace, Wonderful Peace!"

Tuesday Dr. Birney spoke before the Rotary Club and in the afternoon began a series of afternoon messages upon the general theme, "The Holy Spirit." Tuesday night the subject will be, "Over the Top—No Man's Land." The night has been set apart for ex-service men of three wars. On account of the lecture at the High School at 8:15 the meeting will begin at 7 o'clock promptly. A special invitation has also been extended to the ex-service men at Wilberforce to be present, and special seats will be reserved for them.

Dr. Birney's subject Wednesday afternoon will be "The Holy Spirit—the Empowered Church." His subject at 7:30 p. m., will be "The Family Name of God."

PRESBYTERIANS AND TRINITY M. E. TOSSERS ARE LEAGUE WINNERS

BY L. J. WONES

The First Presbyterian and Trinity M. E. Church teams were the winners in the Church League Monday night at Central High School gym when they conquered the First M. E. and Christ Episcopal teams.

The Presbyterians, after trailing by a 7 to 4 score at the half came from behind and scored four points while they held the Methodists to naught. Two long baskets by Prugh from the center of the floor made shortly after the half was under way put them in front for keeps. Prugh, Clemons and W. Wade played best for the winners while North and Henrie starred for the First M. E. five.

The Trinity M. E. had little trouble of disposing of the Episcopal Church team, the final score reading 22 to 1 in their favor. Harold Jordan and Howard Jordan played stellar ball for the winners while a foul tossed by P. McDonald saved his five from a shut-out. This was the first game won by the Trinity bunch while it was the second straight defeat for the Episcopalians. The Presbyterians win over the First M. E. puts them in a tie for first place with the First U. P.

Wednesday night at the gym the Second U. P. will play the First U. P. while Trinity will play the Friends Church. The first game will get under way at 8 o'clock.

PIONEERS

John B. Day, who gave New York its first Giants baseball team, died in New York in poverty.

He went the way of other pioneers, who blaze a trail for the big money that comes after they are gone. Thus hardy settlers cleared lands and settled in timber stretches that later brought fortunes to their descendants, although they themselves lived in hardship.

John Day founded a baseball club that has earned its owners in recent years, thousands of dollars. It was on the foundation that he builded, that these men created colossal fortunes, for Day lost his wealth fighting for the preservation of the National League and the New York Club against the outlaw brotherhood league in the early nineties.

It is a truism that the successful paths of every field of endeavor are dotted with the whitened bones of the pioneer.

BRYAN

William Jennings Bryan, who failed of a presidency and since has been keeping in the limelight by whetting his tongue on those who believe men are descended from apes, has developed an altruistic viewpoint.

It is possible, however, that Mr. Bryan has always been an altruist, and that he was seeking the presidency so diligently, in order that he might thus gain a position that would greatly increase his opportunity to carry out the practice of turning the other cheek.

The latest move of Mr. Bryan, suggests that he can be delightfully generous when the generosity will not particularly affect the size of his own pocketbook. He has offered for the consideration of President Coolidge the idea of America cancelling all the war obligations due it, in consideration that nations owing this money shall scrap their armament.

It has evidently not occurred to the Commoner that the cancellation of the debt would be such a financial boon to these other nations that they would be in a better position than ever to increase instead of decrease their armament.

The indebtedness on the ledger is the result of armament purchased by these nations during war times, and if America makes them pay their debts, perhaps they won't be so ready to spend borrowed money for those products in the future.

Mr. Bryan's idea of world peace is fine, but we are nearer to achieving that situation when those nations that owe us money are in proximity to bankruptcy than if they are as financially affluent as they would be, if they were to receive Mr. Bryan's charming little donation.

FARM AND CITY ARE CLOSER

At a recent farm gathering a speaker emphasized what he termed the "conflicting interests" of the country and city. He inferred that a feeling of enmity, sometimes of contempt, often characterized the relations of these two sections of the population. Fortunately this attitude was not shared by others at the meeting and the opinion was expressed by several persons that the interests of both farm and city would best be served where there was co-operation and a spirit of friendship.

There was a time when the people of the cities and rural districts were separated in important particulars. Travel from one to the other was difficult and means of communication were few. Each farm home was more or less a community in itself, and was fairly independent of outside connection. The farmer produced most of what he needed for himself and had limited concern with markets of his products. Also, the people of the cities saw slight value in good roads, and were not interested in rural schools or development generally. There is still a conflict at times in the attitude of the two sections toward legislation and other matters.

But the differences in interests and points of view have been disappearing. The motor car, the telephone, good roads, mail facilities and other modern conveniences have helped to erase the line that once separated the country from the city. Drawing distinction between the two now is largely an arbitrary matter. Few American cities can prosper without prosperity in adjacent farm territory, and the urban centers have become increasingly dependent on the products of the farm. Similarly, the farmer must look to industrial centers for many of the goods he uses, and to buy these he must find a market, also in the cities, for his own products. Where there is antagonism or a selfish striving for advantage between the farm and city today there is bound to be mutual loss. Where co-operation is the rule, mutual profit is the result.—Kansas City Star.

TOO LATE

Oh, whether it be a train or ship to bear me on my way,
Or whether it be a friendly call and a cheery word to say,
Or whether it be a rose I send with love for a fellow mate,
Let me not linger and have it said: "You have come, but you're just too late!"

Ror the train pulls out and the ship departs and the lagged stays behind,
And little use for the tardy soul does the old world seem to find;
And life goes on in its steadfast way, For none will it ever wait,
And yain are the joy and love we bring if we come to the door

too late.

Let me come to the station, or pier of life in time for the ship or train,
Let me prove my love when the need is great and not when the proof is vain;
Let me tell it all with my friendly deeds, not rush at the end to state
Poor words which the living had smiled to hear, but are spoken at last too late.

Let me be a friend to my friends to-day, let them know what I think and feel;
Let the man I am and the deeds I do, the depth of my love reveal;
Let me stand with them in the battle's heat, when the need for a friend is great,
And not trust it all to a wreath of flowers which is sent to his home, too late!

Mrs. F. M.: "How can one exterminate mice?"

Answer: Stop all mice or rat holes with a large cork dipped first in water and then in cayenne pepper. Infested cellars should be sprinkled with quick lime around the edges of the floor close to the wall. Traps are best baited with fried bacon rinds, raw meat, and cheese. Always scald your traps before resetting them so as to rid them of the human scent; also set them with a stick if possible, for the same reason. A good mice or rat poison is the following: Mix together one part each of barium (carbonate of barium—bought at any drugstore) and grated cheese, then add four parts of cornmeal and enough cold water to form a stiff dough. Leave bits of this dough in runways and be sure there is nowater near which the mice or rats can reach; for they will leave the premises in search for a drink after eating this poisoned dough. I never advise using poison however in homes where there are children or animal pets.

Mrs. E. "Some time ago one of your readers referred to washing a Palm Beach suit. I have washed a tan Palm Beach suit for my boy for three summers and he is still wearing it. Dissolve soap flakes in warm water and wash according to directions on the box; then rinse in clear water of the same temperature and iron before the garment becomes quite dry. You could not tell that this suit had ever been washed.

Another one of your readers—Mrs.

R.—mentioned washing an enamel stove. Here is my method. After washing the top with soap and water saturate a cloth with linseed oil and rub this onto the enamel top; the oil makes the surface brighter. I do not apply this to the sides of the stove.

Answer: I am sure that many Reader Friends will be grateful to you for these hints. Thank you so much.

Young Housewife: "How can I clean silver lace?"

Answer: Sew the lace to a strip of clean linen and boil it in a solution of one cup of salt to one gallon of water. Dry without removing from the linen then sponge the lace with white velvet dipped in alcohol. Gold lace may also be cleaned in this manner.

CRUSHED BEAUTY

The other day I came across some dry, crushed flowers that had been given to me by a little girl over 30 years ago. All the sweetened memories of years flooded my silent heart.

The living fragrance that the wind gathered in its lap as it sped by was only a memory. But the unfathomable fragrance of this crushed floral beauty was as fresh as ever.

It made me think of the radiating gentleness behind every lovely smile of my Mother, of every running, scampering scent of the spring's breath of the silent song of the sun-set.

Not until a flower is crushed does its rarest worth loom and compound. A life crushed with sorrow, suffering and disappointment, rises far above its former estate and enlarges its very frame, so long as it remains brave and unafraid.

Morely Roberts in his book about George Gissing, which he garments under the title of "The Private Life of Henry Maitland," says that "the sort of poverty which crushed the aspiring is the keynote to the best work he did."

Gissing walked arm in arm with poverty, disappointment and unhappiness nearly all his life, but from it came great sweetness and beauty of character and a love for all that fragrant this earth.

"My walk," says this lover of beauty, "in the golden hours leads me to a great horse-chestnut, whose roots offers a convenient seat in the shade of its foliage. At that resting place I have no wide view before me, but what I see is enough—a corner of wasteland, overflowered with poppies and charlock, on the edge of a field of corn. The brilliant red and yellow harmonize with the glory of the day. Near by, too, is a hedge covered with great white blooms of bindweed. My eyes do not soon grow weary."

If every day we tighten in our hearts the experience of our life's severest losses, I am sure that the crushed essence of it all will mean an influence the fastest wind would want to carry to the furthest parts of this earth.

In fact, there are six distinct provisions made under the terms of this policy where the insured, under the public conveyance clause, can collect $2500.00 while alive and we know you will admit that your accident will be much easier to bear if you are assured you have $2500.00 coming to you.

There are also six provisions made under the privately owned vehicle or motor driven car clause that will pay you $2,000.00 in case of an accident, and while you may not enjoy the money to the fullest extent, still this sum will go a long way toward rent and the necessities of life while you are recuperating. Drivers of all trucks and wagons are included in this clause.

Then, too, the Gazette and Republican policy pays you $10.00 per week for 15 weeks in case you meet with an accident that does not entitle you to the major payments provided in the policy.

The Gazette and Republican policy is available to members of the family between the ages of 10 and 70. Insure the whole family—today.

MORAL CODE FOR CHILDREN PRESENTED IN MAGAZINE USED AS THEME BY MINISTER HERE

"If I want to be a happy useful citizen I must have Courage and Hope."

I must be brave—This means I must be brave enough and strong enough to control what I think and what I say and what I do, and I must always be hopeful because hope is power for improvement. (Scripture References Deut. 31:6,7 23. Josh. 1:6,9,8.)

WISDOM—I must act wisely. In school, at home, playing, working, reading or talking, I must learn how to choose the good and avoid the bad. (Scripture Ref. Psalm 111:3-6.)

INDUSTRY AND GOOD HABITS—I must make my character strong. My character is what I am. If not in the eyes of others, then in the eyes of my own conscience. Good thoughts in my mind will keep out bad thoughts. When I am busy doing good I shall have no time to do evil. I can build my character by training myself in good habits." 1. Pet. 3:16.

KNOWLEDGE AND USEFULNESS—I must make my mind strong. The better I know myself, and my fellows, and the world about me, the happier and more useful I shall be. I must always welcome useful knowledge in school, at home, everywhere (2 Cor. 13:5 Acts 19:19 Matt. 5:23.)

TRUTH AND HONESTY—I must be truthful and honest. I must know what is true in order to do what is right. I must tell the truth without fear. I must be honest in all my dealings and in all my thoughts. Unless I am honest I cannot have self-respect. (Proverbs 3:3. Psalms 119:8. Romans 12:17.)

HEALTHFULNESS AND CLEANLINESS—I must make my body strong. My eyes, my teeth, my heart my whole body must be healthful so that my mind can work properly. I must keep physically and morally clean. (Acts 27: 34. Acts 3:16. Amos 4:6. Psalm 18:20 Ps. 21:10.)

HELPFULNESS AND USEFULNESS—I must use my strength to help others who need help. If I am strong I can help others. I can be kind. I can forgive those who hurt me and I can help and protect the weak, the suffering, the young and the old, and dumb animals. Romans 12:9, 10, 11; 2 Cor. 1:24. Ephesians 4:32.

CHARITY—(Love) I must love God who created not only this earth but all men of all races, nations and creeds, who are my brothers. I must love my parents, my home, my neighbors my country, and be loyal to all these. (Deut. 5:16; Matt. 22:37; Matt. 5:44. Luke 6:32.)

"HUMILITY AND REVERENCE—I must know that there are always more things to learn. What I may know is small compared to what can be known. I must respect all who have more wisdom than I, and have reverence for all that is good. And I must know how and whom to obey. (Prov. 22:4. Prov. 15:13. Micah. 6:8. Heb. 12:9.)

FAITH AND RESPONSIBILITY—I must do all these things because I am accountable to God, and to humanity for how I live and how I can help my fellows and for the extent to which my fellows may trust and depend upon me. (Matt. 7:12. Hab. 2:4 Luke 16:10-12. Matt. 25:25, 21,23.)

We are indebted to Colliers Weekly for this effort to procure something which will conform to all ideas of modern teaching and can be included without bias in any public school. And with the few Scripture references herein given we can have workable scriptural basis

DISCOURAGED DISAPPOINTED

These drab words describe the condition in which the average man must inevitably find himself if he neglects thrift and provision for the future.

Systematic Saving, with our 6% Compound Interest, are the forces with which that sorrowful result may be easily avoided. Will you use them?

As a reaction to the wild orgy of spending that followed the War, Thrift is now making splendid progress among the masses.

FIRE CAPTAIN GLEN RAYBURN CALLED BY DEATH MONDAY NIGHT

James Glen Rayburn, 45, captain of the Xenia Fire Department, died at McCallan Hospital Monday night at 11 o'clock. He underwent an operation for the amputation of his right leg a week ago last Saturday and since that time his condition grew gradually critical.

The amputation of his leg followed myo-carditis, a clotting of the blood, caused by an injury received while firemen, in charge of Captain Rayburn, were fighting a blaze several weeks ago. Physicians hoped to save his life by the amputation but his weakened condition resulted in his death, after pneumonia developed.

Mr. Rayburn would have been forty-six years of age next March 19, and spent practically all of his life in Xenia. He was a member of the Xenia Fire Department since 1913 and was promoted to captain four years ago. He was considered a valuable member of the department.

Mr. Rayburn is survived by his widow, who was before marriage Miss Bertha McKinney, their marriage taking place twenty-six years ago. The following children also survive: Errol Rayburn, Xenia; Mrs. Vernon Swindler, Dayton; Ralph, Anna Elmore, Jane and Betty, of Xenia, with the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Morton Filer, Kirkland, Ind.; Mrs. Ralph Gilmore, Portsmouth, O.; Edward Rayburn, Evanston Ill.; Allan Rayburn of Lorain, O.; Guy and Reed Rayburn, of Columbus.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed and will be announced later.

BRITISH STATEMENT WILL BE DELAYED

London, Jan. 27.—The British foreign office let it be known today that in all probability the British statement to France on the Anglo-French debt would be delayed two or three weeks.

The British government realizes, it was pointed out, that the French government has met with popular opposition to any debt settlement. Therefore it was emphasized Britain is anxious to make it as easy as possible for France to accept the British proposals. In the interim, it was said, the British cabinet and the treasury will consider a number of alternative proposals.

CONVICT CONTRACT FOR LABOR ILLEGAL

Moundsville, W. Va., Jan. 27.—A bitterly fought case involving convict labor was at an end today following voiding of a contract by Judge Morris in Marshall circuit court here.

The contract, awarded the Gordon Shirt Company by the state board of control, empowered the firm to utilize services of 400 convicts at the state penitentiary for a compensation of seventy cents a day. Marcellus A. Jolliff, plaintiff in the case, was represented by U. S. Senator M. M. Neely. The contract was declared illegal on the ground that it had not been properly advertised according to law.

(Drawing, The Dragon)
When finally the knave who stole the dragon's cup led Beowulf to the lair of this all-destroying creature, the king stationed his nobles on a hillock and went forth to meet his enemy. Soon the dragon scented Beowulf and rushed forth to do battle—breathing noxious flames and gases.

A most mighty combat then ensued. And all save one faithfulthane, called Wiglaf, fled in terror—seeing this mortal engagement. Sore-scorched and afflicted was Beowulf when Wiglaf rushed forward and dealt the dragon

EQUIP FLYING DOG WITH SAFETY DEVICE

It is not usual that dogs are equipped with an airplane parachute but there are rare exceptions.

There is at least one canine outfit with this aerial appendage. Lieut. J. C. McDuffie, who stopped off at Wilbur Wright Field Saturday, the owner of the dog, which is a hairless Mexican canine.

The pup is being transported by Lieut. McDuffie from Texas to New York. It was presented to him as a gift while in Texas.

Mechanics at the Fairfield post noticed a queer looking crate in the ship when Lieut. McDuffie landed. Closer examination of the contents revealed a small pup shivering from the cold, crouched inside, shivering despite the inner lining of wool and heavy blankets.

While Lieut. McDuffie procured some warm milk for his passenger, mechanics at the field rigged up the box with a parachute to be used only in an emergency.

PASSENGER HURT AS AUTO LEAVES ROAD

The Buick Six touring car owned and driven by Harry Gardner, this city was badly damaged and Gardner's companion, John Cyphers, also of this city received a deep scalp wound, when the machine skidded on the icy road, near the Alpha School, Saturday night and ran into the ditch.

Gardner, who was unhurt, lost control of the car, when it began to skid on the ice. The machine ran into the ditch and struck a tree. The top of the machine was torn off.

HE WAS LUCKY

Elyria, Jan. 27.—John Worcester, 25, Ridgeville farmer, sustained severe scalp wounds and other injuries when a New York Central flier hit the truck he was driving. The truck was hurled 50 feet and was completely demolished. Worcester was able to crawl out from under the wreckage and summon a surgeon who sewed up his wounds.

IS VIGOROUS RACE TO RESULT FROM RECENT DISCOVERY

In a recent investigation among public school children it was discovered that fully 40% were suffering from mal-nutrition and vitamin deficiency—actually starving from lack of nourishing elements in their food. Medical men and scientists generally are convinced that this condition has existed for years, and is probably responsible for weakness, nervousness and other evidence of premature aging among our adults.

Physicians have obtained startling results through new feeding or building process with cod liver oil, and many are strong in their recommendations of a new easy-to-take form of pure Norwegian cod liver oil which also contains blood-building nerve-strengthening vitamins and pure cocoa. It is called CocoCod.

Children who refuse ordinary cod liver oil take CocoCod gladly and thrive mightily on it. No less wonderful is its effect on adults of all ages. Men and women who have been pale, anemic, listless and moody, become rosy with health and alive with energy. As rich blood is built up under this feeding process, eyes become brighter and the step more brisk. You fairly tingle with the sheer joy of living, all because your starved system is being nourished by the rich vitamins which CocoCod contains.

Is a vigorous race to result from this discovery? Many believe that it is. Strong blood and nerve are the making of a virile people, and CocoCod certainly has a tendency to create both.

Local druggists who have arranged to distribute CocoCod, and physicians and teachers as well, have been fully informed concerning its value. Be sure, therefore, that you secure the genuine CocoCod, the new easy-to-take cod liver oil and vitamin preparation.

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Husband Tamer by VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "The Half-Time Wife," "The Luxury of Love" etc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

PATRICIA CLEVE has become estranged from her husband.

ANDREW CLEVE, who lives only for his business and expects her to give up everything to entertain his clients. She rebels and visits her sister, and he goes abroad. She is thrown with

GREGORY HEWITT, a famous financier to whom her husband has introduced her, who falls in love with her, and whom she cannot ignore because of the help which he can give her sister's husband.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

XLV—A CAREER OF PROMISE

FROM day to day Patricia kept putting off replying to Andrew's letter telling her to communicate with his lawyers about getting a divorce. She had no time for introspection or for brooding over her separation from him. Every day was crowded with engagements—and when an idle half hour confronted her she rushed out to the avenue and shopped. "There wouldn't be nearly so much unhappiness in the world," Linda Boyce announced to her one day when she had joined her at luncheon in one of the smart little French cafes just off the Avenue. "If every woman had money enough to go and buy a new hat whenever she felt miserable."

"Perhaps you're right," Pat admitted. "But even though I have the money I'm glad I have something to occupy my mind as well."

"I wish you'd take me along with you and let me see what you're doing," Linda urged. "If there is room for another frivolous woman in the profession I'd like to take it up. You look simply radiant and I feel like a last year's car that has been driven too far. Last night I had to leap into my newest flattery at the last minute after planning for a quiet evening at home. Dick was taking some people from Boston out to dinner and he had just learned that they hadn't seen the Folies. So we all went there and then we went to the El Foy Club to dance. You know it is worse there than a subway jam since it is rumored the Prince of Wales went there one night when he slipped away from the society entertainments given for him."

"Tell me Pat, what do you do evenings?"

Pat looked at her and then broke into an infectious smile. "Don't laugh when I tell you. I read school catalogues and talk over college entrance requirements with poor and earnest young people. Mr. Gillespie sets aside a fund to send deserving young people through college and I am in charge of deciding whether or not they are deserving. Then I help them choose their college and decide how big an allowance they will need. They all seem terribly deserving and pathetic to me and I'd like to give them enough to go out and have a roaring good time. There was one young man the other day who was going Yale. It had been his life aim, and he had worked in a garage and night trying to save the money for his tuition but a lot of sickness among his little brothers and sisters wiped that fund out. After we had planned about where he would live and how big an allowance he would get I just couldn't resist taking him to a good tailor and having some decent clothes made for him. He was horrified at the thought of paying one hundred and thirty five dollars for a single suit! I couldn't help thinking of how surprised Andrew would be to see me marching in to order clothes for a husky young garage mechanic with ambitions."

"And is that all there is to it? Don't you get lonely sometimes? And what sort of man is this Mr. Gillespie?" Linda shot the questions at her suddenly.

"There isn't anything in what you're thinking," Pat laughingly

"I help these deserving young people choose their colleges," explained Pat.

assured her. "Mr. Gillespie is a very kindly old man who seems pleased to have me help him give away his money in a way that all organized and in man charities would disapprove of heartily. But he isn't in love with me, or I with him. And oh, Linda, I do get lonely sometimes. I'm afraid that if I passed a restaurant where there was a good jazz band I'd break down and sob."

"Well, I don't know, of course, if it interests you," Linda remarked casually. "But Andrew doesn't look very happy either."

That afternoon Pat had to attend a meeting of the trustees of a Newsboys' Home, and her heart fluttered when she saw that the bank where the meeting was to be held, was within a few doors of Andrew's office.

What would she do if she were to meet him? She would have to some day, for even New York wasn't big enough to keep separate two whose interests were so much bound up in one another.

And before she had reached any decision about it, just as her taxi deposited her in front of the bank where the meeting was to be held, she got out and confronted—her husband!

The most remarkable tobacco ever offered to pipe smokers
— in quality, in value, in taste

Back about 1870, James N. Wellman developed a secret tobacco process which won instant and widespread favor. It yielded a fuller-bodied richness, mildness and fragrance which just seemed to "go" with a pipe. No one else ever knew his secret until we acquired "Wellman's Method" and by its means made "Granger Rough Cut"
